NAOTO FUKASAWA

Born in Japan in 1956, Naoto Fukasawa is known for his streamlined industrial products which defy easy categorization. Integrating an environmental approach with practical application, his designs promote social good.

Having worked for the firm IDEO in both the US and Japan, Fukasawa's award-winning design strategy is the concept of "Outline," promoting a simple, unified harmony between object and user. In addition to running his own Tokyo-based firm, Fukasawa is a design advisor to MUJI.

MINIMALISM

Athena's minimalism lies in its simple yet sophisticated design, a slender stem connecting two identical thin discs.

TIMELESS

Athena's minimal elegance makes it a timeless object. The simplicity of its design allows to blend in any environment and style.
